Death of Participant and Beneficiary Designation	In the event of your death before retirement, your beneficiary will be entitled to receive a lump sum payment of your contributions, plus 5% interest accumulated annually up to the date of death.
What Happens if I Survive My Designated Primary or Do Not Have a Beneficiary Designation?	In the event that you survive your designated primary beneficiary your benefit will be paid to your contingent beneficiary. If you do not have a primary or contingent beneficiary designation on file, distribution will be paid in the following order: surviving spouse, dependents, executor, or next of kin.
What is the Amount of the Retirement Benefit?	Your benefit is calculated by adding your earnings for each year you participated in the Plan to determine your total career earnings. Your total career earnings are then multiplied by 2% to calculate the annual benefit, and then divided by 12 to calculate the estimated monthly benefit amount. This amount is then multiplied by an age-based actuarial factor to calculate the present value of the benefit. If the present value of the benefit is less than $5,000, your benefit will be paid to you in a lump sum. If the present value of the benefit is greater than $5,000, your benefit will be paid to you as a monthly annuity for the rest of your life.
What is the Joint and Survivor Annuity Option?	The joint survivor and annuity option is available to you if you are married at least one year as of the date that is 90 days prior to your retirement date and your benefit is paid as a monthly annuity (present value greater than $5,000). You will be required to provide a marriage certificate if you select this option. Under this option, you will receive a reduced monthly benefit amount that continues to be paid to your eligible surviving spouse after your death.
